

Junior Fiction Review Herald Sun Weekender 28.4.12

Fred Hollows was an amazing man who stopped thousands of people from going blind. Hollows believed blindness was linked to poverty, so he came up with a way to make sure eye check-ups and operations were not expensive in remote Australian, Asian and African communities. This story about Fred Hollows is part of the Aussie Heroes series. I recommend it for mid to late primary school students. MM

Verdict: Incredible.
